This notice may be supplemented if any new, significant facts are learned subsequent to its submission. By providing this notice, Melwood, Inc. (“Melwood”) does not waive any rights or defenses regarding the applicability of Nebraska law, the applicability of the Nebraska data event notification statute, or personal jurisdiction.

Nature of the Data Event

Between August 9 and 17, 2025, an unknown cyber actor accessed a portion of Melwood’s computer network and copied files without permission. In response, Melwood took steps to confirm the computer network was secure and to review the files to determine what information was contained in them, and to whom the information related. While this review was ongoing, Melwood preliminarily notified regulators in jurisdictions in which it conducts business and placed a notice on its website to provide information about this matter. Melwood also worked to identify contact information for individuals so they could notify them directly about this matter, which was complete on January 5, 2026. The types of information contained in the files included name and the following: Social Security number.

Notice to Nebraska Residents

On January 26, 2026, Melwood provided written notice of this matter to approximately three (3) Nebraska residents. Written notice is being provided in substantially the same form as the letter attached here as Exhibit A.

Other Steps Taken and To Be Taken

Upon identifying this matter, Melwood moved quickly to investigate and respond, assess the security of its computer network, and identify potentially affected individuals. Further, Melwood notified federal law enforcement regarding the event. Melwood is also taking steps to evaluate and update its policies and practices to mitigate the risk of a matter like this reoccurring. Melwood is providing access to credit monitoring services for twelve (12) months, through TransUnion, to notified individuals at no cost.

Additionally, Melwood is providing notified individuals with guidance on how to better protect against identity theft and fraud. Melwood is providing individuals with information on how to place a fraud alert and security freeze on one’s credit file, the contact details for the national consumer reporting agencies, information on how to obtain a free credit report, and encouragement to contact the Federal Trade Commission, their state Attorney General, and law enforcement to report attempted or actual identity theft and fraud.

January 26, 2026

Dear

We write to notify you about a matter that involves some of your information. This letter provides you with information about this matter, our response, and steps you may take if you believe those steps are appropriate.

What Happened? Between August 9 and 17, 2025, an unknown cyber actor accessed a portion of our computer network and copied files without permission. In response, we took steps to confirm the computer network was secure and to review the files to determine what information was contained in them, and to whom the information related. While this review was ongoing, we placed a notice on our website to provide information about this matter. We also worked to identify contact information for individuals so we could notify them directly about this matter, which was complete on January 5, 2026. After identifying whose information was involved, we then arranged services to provide individuals with notification and complimentary identity monitoring services.

What Information Was Involved? The information identified during the file review included your name and the following:

What We Are Doing. We are notifying individuals to ensure they are aware of this matter and providing complimentary identity monitoring. Additionally, we are providing individuals free resources and guidance on how to protect their information, should they feel the need to do so. While no safeguards can fully prevent all cybersecurity matters, we are evaluating additional technical measures, as well as reviewing our staff training and supervision practices, to reduce the risk of an issue like this reoccurring. We will continue to evaluate and update our policies and practices as appropriate.

What Individuals Can Do. We encourage individuals to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing their account statements and monitoring their free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. We also encourage individuals to review the “Steps Individuals Can Take To Protect Personal Information” section of this letter. This section contains free resources that are available, including guidance for monitoring free credit reports, how to place a fraud alert or security freeze on credit files, and contact information for the consumer reporting agencies and Federal Trade Commission. Individuals may also enroll in the identity monitoring, which is being provided for free. Enrollment instructions are in the “Enroll in Monitoring Services” section of this letter. Please note that, due to privacy restrictions, we are unable to automatically enroll you in the complimentary identity monitoring.

For More Information. If you have questions about this matter, we have an assistance line with agents ready to help answer your questions. Please contact our toll-free assistance line at 1-833-925-1449, Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. Eastern Time (excluding U.S. holidays). You may also write to us at Melwood, Attn: Legal Department, 5606 Dower House Road, Upper Marlboro, MD 20772.

Sincerely,

Melwood

Steps Individuals Can Take To Protect Personal Information

In order for you to receive the monitoring services described above, you must enroll within ninety (90) days from the date of this letter. The enrollment requires an internet connection and e-mail account and may not be available to minors under the age of 18 years of age. Please note that when signing up for monitoring services, you may be asked to verify personal information for your own protection to confirm your identity.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:

Additional Information

Consumers may further educate themselves regarding identity theft, fraud alerts, credit freezes, and the steps they can take to protect their personal information by contacting the consumer reporting bureaus, the Federal Trade Commission, or their state Attorney General. The Federal Trade Commission may be reached at: 600 Pennsylvania Ave NW, Washington, DC 20580; www.identitytheft.gov; 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338); and TTY: 1-866-653-4261. The Federal Trade Commission also encourages those who discover that their information has been misused to file a complaint with them. Consumers can obtain further information on how to file such a complaint by way of the contact information listed above. Consumers have the right to file a police report if they ever experience identity theft or fraud. Please note that in order to file a report with law enforcement for identity theft, consumers will likely need to provide some proof that they have been a victim. Instances of known or suspected identity theft should also be reported to law enforcement and the relevant state Attorney General. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.

For District of Columbia residents, the District of Columbia Attorney General may be contacted at: 400 6th Street, NW, Washington, DC 20001; 1-202-442-9828; and oag.dc.gov. You may also contact us at Melwood, Attn: Legal Department, 5606 Dower House Road, Upper Marlboro, MD 20772, or 1-301-599-8000.

You may also contact us at Melwood, Attn: Legal Department, 5606 Dower House Road, Upper Marlboro, MD 20772, or 1-301-599-8000.

For New Mexico residents, consumers have rights pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act, such as the right to be told if information in their credit file has been used against them, the right to know what is in their credit file, the right to ask for their credit score, and the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. Further, pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act, the consumer reporting bureaus must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information; consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information; access to consumers' files is limited; consumers must give consent for credit reports to be provided to employers; consumers may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance based on information in their credit report; and consumers may seek damages from violators. Consumers may have additional rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act not summarized here. Identity theft victims and active-duty military personnel have specific additional rights pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act. We encourage consumers to review their rights pursuant to the Fair Credit Reporting Act by visiting www.consumerfinance.gov/f/201504_cfpb_summary_your-rights-under-fcra.pdf, or by writing Consumer Response Center, Room 130-A, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Ave NW, Washington, DC 20580.

For New York residents, the New York Attorney General may be contacted at: Office of the Attorney General, The Capitol, Albany, NY 12224-0341; 1-800-771-7755; or <https://ag.ny.gov>.

For North Carolina residents, the North Carolina Attorney General may be contacted at: 9001 Mail Service Center, Raleigh, NC 27699-9001; 1-877-566-7226 or 1-919-716-6000; and www.ncdoj.gov.

For Rhode Island residents, the Rhode Island Attorney General may be contacted at: 150 South Main Street, Providence, RI 02903; 1-401-274-4400; and www.riag.ri.gov. Under Rhode Island law, individuals have the right to obtain any police report filed in regard to this event. There are approximately 2 Rhode Island residents notified of this event.
