Wisner Baum LLP completed its investigation of an incident that involved unauthorized activity in its information technology (“IT”) network.

Upon identifying the activity, Wisner Baum isolated the computers from its IT network and launched an investigation. Through its investigation, Wisner Baum determined that an unauthorized party gained access to its IT network and may have acquired files maintained on certain computer systems between October 8, 2025 and October 9, 2025.

Wisner Baum undertook a comprehensive search and review of the files that may have been acquired as a result of the incident. On December 15, 2025, Wisner Baum determined that certain files potentially acquired as a result of the incident contain information pertaining to certain clients and other affiliated individuals. The information potentially involved varied by individual but included names and one or both of the following: Social Security numbers and/or driver’s license numbers.

Beginning on January 23, 2026, Wisner Baum will mail notification letters via United States Postal Service First-Class mail to individuals whose information may have been involved, including to 74 Nebraska residents, in accordance with Neb. Rev. Stat. § 87-803. A copy of the notification letter is enclosed. Wisner Baum is offering individuals whose Social Security and/or driver’s license numbers may have been involved in the incident complimentary one-year memberships to credit monitoring services through CyberScout. Wisner Baum has also established a dedicated, toll-free call center to answer questions that letter recipients may have.

To help prevent something like this from happening again, Wisner Baum has implemented, and will continue to adopt, additional safeguards and technical security measures to further protect and monitor its systems.

Dear [REDACTED]:

Everyone at Wisner Baum is committed to safeguarding your personal information, so it is with great concern that we write to inform you of a cybersecurity incident that may have involved some of your information. This notice explains how we discovered the issue, what information may have been affected, the steps we have taken to secure our systems, and the practical measures you can take in response.

What Happened: Like many other organizations, we recently identified unauthorized access to certain computer systems and immediately took steps to secure and protect your information. We first became aware of the incident on October 9, 2025, when we detected unusual activity on our computer network. We immediately secured our systems and engaged independent cybersecurity professionals to assist. The investigation determined that an unauthorized third party accessed our network between October 8 and October 9, 2025, and may have obtained certain files.

What Information was Involved: Based on our careful review of the data that may have been involved, it appears that certain files may have contained some of your information, such as your name, driver's license number, bank account and routing numbers, and medical information.

What We Are Doing: In consultation with cybersecurity experts, we have installed stronger protections to our computer systems, including increased monitoring, and we will continue to implement the latest safeguards and measures to help prevent this from happening again. In addition, we have taken all possible steps to help ensure that the data that may have been taken has been deleted. In response to the incident, we are providing you with access to Single Bureau Credit Monitoring/Single Bureau Credit Report/Single Bureau Credit Score services at no charge. These services provide you with alerts for twelve (12) months from the date of enrollment when changes occur to your credit file. This notification is sent to you the same day that the change or update takes place with the bureau. Finally, we are providing you with proactive fraud assistance to help with any questions that you might have or in event that you become a victim of fraud. These services will be provided by Cyberscout, a TransUnion company specializing in fraud assistance and remediation services.

What You Can Do: We encourage you to stay alert by reviewing your bank and credit card statements and checking your credit reports. If you see anything out of the ordinary, please contact your financial institutions right away. To enroll in Credit Monitoring services at no charge, please log on to <https://bfs.cyberscout.com/activate> and follow the instructions provided. When prompted please provide the following unique code to receive services: [REDACTED]. In order for you to receive the monitoring services described above, you must enroll within 90 days from the date of this letter. The enrollment requires an internet connection and e-mail account and may not be available to minors under the age of 18 years of age. Please note that when signing up for monitoring services, you may be asked to verify personal information for your own protection to confirm your identity. For details about additional steps, you can take to protect your information, please see the materials that follow this letter.

For More Information: We deeply regret any inconvenience or concern this may cause. If you have any questions about this incident, please call 1-833-977-2380, Monday through Friday, between 5:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m., Pacific Time.

Sincerely,

Wisner Baum LLP

ADDITIONAL STEPS YOU CAN TAKE

We remind you it is always advisable to be vigilant for incidents of fraud or identity theft by reviewing your account statements and free credit reports for any unauthorized activity. You may obtain a copy of your credit report, free of charge, once every 12 months from each of the three nationwide credit reporting companies. To order your annual free credit report, please visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call toll free at 1-877-322-8228. Contact information for the three nationwide credit reporting companies is as follows:

- Equifax, PO Box 740241, Atlanta, GA 30374, www.equifax.com, 1-888-378-4329
- Experian, PO Box 2002, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com, 1-888-397-3742
- TransUnion, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com/get-credit-report, 1-833-799-5355

If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the Federal Trade Commission and/or the Attorney General's office in your state. You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

- Federal Trade Commission, Consumer Response Center, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580, 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338), www.ftc.gov/idtheft

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud--an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years. To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report. For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active-Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That is because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they cannot see your report, they may not extend the credit. How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com
- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com/credit-freeze

You will need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information. After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze. How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.

You also have a right to place a security freeze on your credit report, as described above.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act: The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Your major rights under the FCRA are summarized below. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street NW, Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you.
- You have the right to know what is in your file.
- You have the right to ask for a credit score.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information.
- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information.
- Access to your file is limited.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers.
- You may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report.
- You have a right to place a "security freeze" on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization.
- You may seek damages from violators.
- Identity theft victims and active-duty military personnel have additional rights.
