On December 18, 2024, New Era Enterprises, Inc., which includes New Era Life Insurance Company, New Era Life Insurance Company of the Midwest, Philadelphia American Life Insurance Company, and Life of America Insurance Company, (“NEEI,” collectively) identified suspicious activity in its IT network. NEEI immediately initiated its incident response protocols, which included isolating certain systems and beginning an investigation with assistance from a third-party cybersecurity firm. The investigation determined that an unauthorized person accessed NEEI’s IT network between December 9, 2024, and December 18, 2024, and, during that time, copied certain files from its systems. NEEI analyzed the data that may have been involved, which recently concluded on January 31, 2025.

Through this analysis, NEEI identified files containing data of certain Nebraska residents who are policyholders or their beneficiaries, independent agents, and NEEI employees. The data that may have been involved varied based on the individual and, for policyholders or beneficiaries, could have included their name and one or more of the following: address, date of birth, health insurance policy number, Medicare identification number, and/or data related to medical treatment or diagnosis. For certain policyholders and beneficiaries, the files involved also may have contained their Social Security number. For the independent agents and NEEI employees, the files that may have been involved contained their name and Social Security number. Certain independent agents’ financial account numbers were also contained in the files.

On February 11, 2025, NEEI commenced mailing notifications to Nebraska residents via U.S. First-Class mail, and is notifying 604 Nebraska residents in accordance with Neb. Rev. Stat. § 87-803, and 114 in accordance with the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (“HIPAA”).¹ NEEI has established a dedicated, toll-free call center for individuals to call with questions. NEEI is offering credit monitoring through Experian to the Nebraska residents whose Social Security number may have been involved. An example notification is enclosed.

To help prevent something like this from happening again, NEEI has implemented, and will continue to adopt, additional safeguards and technical security measures to further protect and monitor its systems.

¹ This report does not waive any objection that New Era Enterprises, Inc., New Era Life Insurance Company, New Era Life Insurance Company of the Midwest, Philadelphia American Life Insurance Company, Life of America Insurance Company or any of their subsidiaries or affiliates may have that Nebraska lacks regulatory authority over them related to any claims that may arise from this incident.

If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact the Federal Trade Commission and/or the Attorney General's office in your state. You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report. For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That is because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they cannot see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com
- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 160, Woodlyn, PA 19094, www.transunion.com

You will need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
